Product costs and remuneration

Our PDS provides details regarding transaction fees and costs associated with holding an account with us and trading our financial products. You must agree to these fees and costs prior to the commencement of your transaction with us. Applicable transaction fees and costs may vary according to the type and level of service provided, the size and frequency of the transaction.

We earn our revenue from the spread in the price of our products and the volume traded. The spread means the difference between the bid price (price at which FFS buys/you sell) and the offer price (price at which FFS sells/you buy) for the base currency expressed against the terms currency. The size of the spread may differ depending on the specific currency pair or derivative product traded. Aside from spread, FFS may also charge commission on certain financial products.

- Administration charges (bank and exchange fees related to your account).

An amount calculated based on commission or spread on our products acquired by you may be paid to third parties (if you have been referred to FFS by a third party). If such payments are considered “conflicted remuneration” under the Corporations Act (2001) then they will only be made with your explicit consent and you are entitled to receive full details regarding such payment upon written request.

However, if an amount, which may be calculated by reference to the commission or spread on our products acquired by you, may be paid to third parties or employees without your express consent where such payment are not deemed “conflicted remuneration” under the Corporations Act, Any such payment will be paid by us and not by you.

If you are unsure whether these arrangements apply to you, please contact the referring third party or us.
